This latest issue of our newsletter is early. Two time limits are affecting the production of this newsletter which usually comes out later in the month or early the following month. One is the time table of our Webmaster to be in Orlando, Florida for a work related issue from the 18th of this month to the 30th during which time he will not be able to access or post anything to our website. The other is my preparations to leave in early October for my home Island of Guam after being away 30 years for a 3 week visit there (during that time, you will still be able to e-mail, but calls are discouraged since Guam is a day ahead & the time difference is Greenwich Mean time + 10 if you live in the U.S.).
